From an enquiry recently made in connection with the appointment of peons to work under the Chief Officers in the Town Municipalities in the State, it was disclosed that there is diversity of practice in this respect. In some municipalities, separate peons are appointed to work under the Chief Officers, while in some others peons attached to the municipal office are utilised for this purpose and in a few cases no peons are given to the Chief Officers.

Government observe that Chief Officers employed in Town municipalities are statutory officers and they attend in their executive capacity to the work outside the regular office hours also. It is therefore necessary that these officers should be provided with the services of peons. They accordingly direct that a uniform practice may be followed in this behalf and that the services of one peon may be made available to the Chief Officers of municipalities, wherever they are appointed. The expenditure in this behalf will be met out of the funds of the municipality concerned.
